ALLIED FORCES IN TUNISIA STORMED NEARER TO TUNIS

RIISING TIDE OF AERIAL BLOWS SUPPORT NORTH AFRICA CAMPAIGN

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(P)—British and American forces, supported by a rising tide of aerial blows at the enemy on both sides of the Mediterranean, have stormed to within less than 12 miles of Tunis in a drive which has all but isolated that city and Bizerte, main axis-held strong point in Tunisia.

The allied advance was disclosed today by a headquarters communique which said fighting now was progressing east of Djedeida, which is 12 miles northwest of Tunis on the Tunis-Bizerte railroad. This indicated the allies were driving a wedge straight toward the coast to separate the axis strongholds.

Bizerte was the target of an attack by allied planes which scored hits on the naval base, the communique said, and allied fighters were credited with destruction of four enemy planes in operations over forward areas.

The allied announcement failed to disclose the extent of the thrust toward Tunis but the Morocco radio said yesterday that the allies already were within cannon range of the city.

Being astride the railroad, these forces have cut the only link between the axis defense zones except for the coastal road. Absence of reports of fighting west of Djedeida suggested the allies were attacking one town at a time, or were leaving Bizerte to a column advancing along the northern coast.

Rommel Under Attack.

Simultaneously with the allied assault on the heavily fortified axis strong point in Tunisia, German and Italian communiques reported that the 8th Army's tanks struck the first blow at Marshal Rommel's El Agheila line in Libya. The axis claimed these tanks repulsed; the British kept silent.

A storm of allied aerial bombs burst upon the axis in North Africa and Italy last night and yesterday, underscoring Prime Minister Churchill's declaration that the enemy soon would be cast from his African toeholds and that the Italians must get out of the war or be bombed out.

Tunis, Bizerte and Tripoli were targets of the heavily concentrated attacks over the weekend in a prelude to impending assaults by American and British land forces in Africa, and the great Italian industrial city of Turin shuddered to the impact of RAF bombs last night for the second time in two hours.

Axis-Held Ports Blasted.

Shipping and harbors were blasted at three axis-held African ports and traffic along Marshal Rommel's road to escape toward Tripoli was strangled while in Tunisia the fighting grew in intensity as the zero hour for the all-out land attack neared.

Across the Mediterranean, home-based British bombers swept across the Alps to attack Turin, Italy's industrial city, and there the pilots found fires still raging from a great assault the night before.

Rome acknowledged that Turin was the target in this 23rd RAF raid of the war on the Italian mainland and the 12th of the new aerial offensive against Mussolini's domain since Oct. 22. The Italians minimized the damage, however, and the British themselves said the attack was the scale of the one the night before.

From Vichy came a broadcast that British troops on the Tunisian-Algerian border had been reinforced by armored units, indicating that

No Celebration, Just Hard Work, For Churchill

By ROBERT BUNNELLE

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill arose before dawn today and plunged into his arduous daily tasks with scarcely a moment to receive felicitations on his 68th birthday and congratulations on his address last night when he bluntly advised Italy to get out of the war and coupled his review of good war news with an admonition to expect a "stern and terrible" 1943.

Members of the Churchill family in London called at 10 Downing street to felicitate the tough old campaigner and the BBC announcers in their early morning news broadcasts wished him "many happy returns" on behalf of radio listeners.

Among the messages of congratulation from all over the world was one from Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, prime minister of South Africa and another veteran warrior, saying "salute and best wishes to a youthful veteran of 68."

Premier Joseph Stalin of Russia also cabled his congratulations and those were messages like those from Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand and scores of others.

The nation, taking its cue from the hard-working prime minister, did not pause for a celebration.

TEMPORARY RATIONS GASOLINE BE GIVEN TO TRUCK OPERATORS

SUPPLEMENTAL BOOKS NOW BEING ISSUED AS RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE

"Supplemental gasoline rationing books are being issued as rapidly as possible," Wilbur Wright, chairman of the Navarre county rationing board, stated Monday, "and car owners are being urged to get the books as soon as they are received by mail, except in case of great emergency."

Wright again urged all car owners to start the rationing period with full tanks of gas and to follow all rules and regulations. Transportation problems should be taken to the auxiliary boards in Corsicana and in towns over the county, Wright re-emphasized.

Wilbur Wright, chairman of the Navarre county rationing board, announced Monday temporary gasoline rationing to truck operators pending the states of War Necessity, or until December 31, while such certificates are being corrected. Otherwise, he said, the board must follow the gasoline rationing figures set by the ODT in "tailoring" transport mileage ration books.

"The board administering the OPA program has no alternative but to accept the gasoline quota rationing certificate of War Necessity issued by the ODT," Wright emphasized.

How to Make Appeals.

"We would like to make it very plain that farmers and other operators of commercial vehicles who are now engaged in transporting farm commodities and supplies should make appeals through the county agricultural agent or directly to the county U. S. department of agriculture war board. Under

FRESH PORK MADE MYSTERIOUS APPEARANCE TO FEED HUNGRY FIGHTERS SOUTH PACIFIC AREA

By OLEN CLEMENTS

AN ADVANCE BASE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Nov. 20.—(P)—The flies buzzed in peace around the kitchen door.

The breakfast dishes had been done. Mess Sergeant Robert (Wimpy) Singleton of Washington, D. C., fluttered around the kitchen.

"I'll declare," he drawled in his best North Carolinian accent, "I just don't know what I'll fix for lunch."

But the sergeant was the only man in the outfit puzzled. The G. I. guys knew what he'd fix—canned meats, canned peas, carrots and dehydrated potatoes. It had been the same for weeks.

"Boy," wailed a passing K. P. singing in a clear-cut baritone, "I hope my last mission in this man's army is bombing that damned cannery plant back in the States."

Now Sergeant Singleton is a G. I. guy, too, and he has been at it 11 years. At this remark he twisted his mustache, which is a bad looking growth that started out to be one of those longhorn affairs and just quit. It makes him appear at first glance to be sneering.

"Git to work," he said somewhat petulantly to two P. S.'s. They jumped.

Just then there was a commotion in the kitchen door. The flies leaped into action with renewed vigor. One of the nine dogs sprawled by the door managed a gleeful yelp.

Four husky natives brushed at the flies lazily.

"Boola," said the leader to Sergeant Singleton.

"Boola," the sergeant boolaed back, and then gasped.

Each of the natives had half a hog on his back. They put them down without further comment and walked away.

Sergeant Singleton's mouth popped open and shut like that of a goldfish, but he was speechless.

"Looky what the man sent," a lesser cook yelled, "fresh haw-meat."

Sergeant Singleton regained his voice.

"Po'k chops for lunch and side-meat for supper," he ordered.

The lesser cooks fell to with butcher knives and hot water. The

RED ARMY SHOCK TROOPS WREST NEW POINT FROM NAZIS

GERMANS DECLARED BE DYING AT RATE OF 10,000 DAILY IN EAST

By HENRY CASSIDY

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—(P)—Soviet shock troops have wrested another Don river stronghold from the Germans under clearing skies on the Stalingrad front and are pressing westward through a blizzard in the parallel offensive west of Moscow, the Russians said today.

Germans were declared to be dying at the rate of 10,000 daily as Red Army divisions pushed across the snow, utilizing tactics perfected in the 1941-42 winter drive.

While clouds vanished, cold prevailed in the Stalingrad area. Wind-driven snow cut down visibility on the central front. Moscow observers said the joint operations were the greatest undertaken by the Russians in their 17 months of war.

(London commentaries said that if the Germans sought to organize a counteroffensive they would have to pull in forces from not only the Stalingrad front but also weakening the lines stretching from the White Sea to the mid-Caucasus.

Red army soldiers wearing white hoods and armed with automatic rifles patrolled snow-covered pine forests and the open lands west of Moscow to locate enemy positions for the artillery batteries blasting paths for the general advance.

Russian Fliers Roam Skies.

Russian fliers warmed up frosty motors and roared into the sky after hours in support of cavalry and tanks slashing at the enemy lines. Fifty loaded trucks and 12 Nazi planes were reported destroyed by Soviet squadrons in that area yesterday.

Hundreds of thousands of pamphlets in the German language were dropped on enemy positions,

AMERICAN FLYING Fortress GUNNER SUGGESTS COMPLAINT

RESCUED FROM CHANNEL WATERS THEY WERE GIVEN FISH FOR DINNER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(P)—An American flying fortress gunner, Sergeant Joseph F. Schwallier, Jefferson City, Mo., rescued after floating for hours in the choppy English Channel, has a complaint against the British air-sea rescue service. "It seemed kind of funny after having been rescued around in the drink all that time they'd give us fish for dinner."

The complaint was recorded today by 1st Lieut. Donald A. Swenson, Capt. N. D., pilot of a B-24 Flying Fortress in telling of his plane being shot down after a bombing raid on Lille, France, Oct. 9.

The nine crew members were rescued 35 minutes after their plane went down, hit by an explosion and then rescued from a German airplane.

The rescuers, Swenson related, were just a bit cool at first, believing the American fliers were Germans because of their powder blue uniforms. But, when they recognized the group as Americans, they "set to work with enthusiasm."

Swenson, whose plane aided in dumping many tons of bombs on Lille's steel and engine factories, described the mission as "uneventful up to the point where he was shot down."

One hit from an enemy cannon struck a motor. The Flying Fortress began to lose altitude swiftly.

American Ground Patrols Destroy Jap Ammunition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(P)—American ground patrols on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons have destroyed "a considerable amount of enemy arms and ammunition," the navy announced today, while army bombers ranging north of the island have heavily damaged a Japanese cargo ship and shot down three zero fighters. A navy communique said that both the land actions and the aerial attack on an enemy convoy were carried out November 28, Guadalcanal time. The patrols scored their successes in the upper Lunga River region. The Lunga river runs through the American-held territory around the island on the northern edge of the island so that the damage inflicted on the Japs

BOSTON NIGHT CLUB FIRE DEAD CLIMBS TO MORE THAN 479

MATCH FLAME ACCIDENTALLY TOUCHES OFF ONE WORST HOLOCAUSTS

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—(P)—State and county law enforcement officers went into immediate action today to determine whether any law violation had contributed to the Saturday night fire that suddenly converted the Coconut Grove Night Club into a house of flaming death for 479 merrymakers.

Moving under instructions from Acting Public Safety Commissioner John F. Stokes, State Fire Marshal Stephen C. Garrity turned over to District Attorney William J. Foley of Suffolk county a preliminary report of the fire that flared from a match flame lighted by a 16-year-old boy as he sought to replace a light bulb removed by a club patron.

Meanwhile, a hundred bodies still lay unnamed and unclaimed in the city's morgues, posing a terrific problem of identification to officials who said that many had been burned almost past recognition.

In undertaking establishments throughout New England, preparations were underway for the hundreds of funerals that will carry the bodies of the victims to their graves.

The bus boy whose match started the inferno was identified by Deputy Police Superintendent James R. Claffin as Stanley F. Tomaszewski.

The boy related, Claffin said, that he was trying to replace a light bulb in the crowded night club when the match flame brushed the flimsy palm and set off the devastating blaze.

Flames swept through the highly inflammable decorations as the orchestra leader raised his baton to signal for the National Anthem as the prelude to the Saturday night floor show. Within seconds the crowded night club was a bedlam of screaming women and horror-stricken men dashed for exits, tumbling over each other on the jam packed stairways.

Bodies Four and Five Deep.

District Fire Chief William J. Mahoney said that tangled and frightfully burned bodies were found four and five deep and that tables and chairs were scattered

CHURCHILL WARNS ITALIAN PEOPLE OF SHATTERING ATTACK

DOOM THAT AWAITS MUSOLINI'S BLIND FOLLOWERS POUNDED HOME

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill's warning to the Italian people to get out of the war or expect a "prolonged, scientific and shattering attack" was pounded home again and again to the Italians today by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

The BBC preceded Churchill's victory speech Sunday with broad appeals to the Italians to make a separate peace and followed up by rebroadcasting at intervals the full text of the Prime Minister's 30-minute speech, addressing Germany and France as well as Italy.

Churchill promised that the war would be carried to Italy "in a manner which has hitherto dreamed of by its guilty leaders" and added:

"It is for the Italian people to say whether they want this terrible thing to happen to them or not."

He reviewed allied strategy on the African and Russian fronts, discussed what he called a "reunion" with France and its "resurrection," and spoke somberly of the prospects of 1943 as boding new tests "in the face of victory."

"I promise nothing," he predicted, "but I can guarantee that more successes are now on the way."

"The dawn of 1943 will soon loom before us and we must brace ourselves to cope with what will be a stern and terrible year."

Allies in North Africa.

But he emphasized that "now at this moment the first British army is striking hard at the last remnants of the Italian industrial and military power in Tunisia."

"American, British and French troops are pressing forward side by side. We expect to expel the enemy before long from the 2,000 miles of African coastline. But Africa is no halting place. It is not a seat but a springboard. We shall use Africa to come to closer grips."

"Our operations in French North Africa should enable us to bring the weight of the war home to the Italian fascist state in a manner not hitherto dreamed of by its guilty leaders, or still less, by the unfortunate people Mussolini has led exploited and deceived."

Points to Bombings.

Churchill pointed to the series of punishing raids the RAF has inflicted on Italian industrial and shipping centers, the most recent Saturday night when heavy bombers

But he emphasized that "now at this moment the first British army is striking hard at the last remnants of the Italian industrial and military power in Tunisia."

"American, British and French troops are pressing forward side by side. We expect to expel the enemy before long from the 2,000 miles of African coastline. But Africa is no halting place. It is not a seat but a springboard. We shall use Africa to come to closer grips."

"Our operations in French North Africa should enable us to bring the weight of the war home to the Italian fascist state in a manner not hitherto dreamed of by its guilty leaders, or still less, by the unfortunate people Mussolini has led exploited and deceived."

WAR AT A GLANCE

By The Associated Press

PACIFIC—Allied jungle fighters overrun enemy's beach defenses near Gona, push toward Sanananda, further up coast. Several hundred Japanese were believed cut off in a pocket at Gona.

AMERICAN—Fortress aircraft were officially credited with setting fire to two Japanese destroyers and forcing two others to sea in breaking up the enemy's latest attempt to land reinforcements.

NAVAL—Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said the big fortress planes scored direct hits with 500-pound bombs on two of the enemy warships and both were believed to have sunk later.

AMERICAN AND AUSTRALIAN—troops were reported maintaining steady pressure on Japanese forces hemmed on three sides along a 10-mile coastal strip between Buna and Gona, but there was little change in the general situation.

NAVAL—Seattle Ship.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur also reported that allied naval forces had intercepted an 8,000-ton German auxiliary west of Australia, blasted the vessel with gunfire and captured 78 of the crew after the Nazis scuttled their ship.

IT WAS the first official mention of German shipping in the West-Pacific in many months.

MEANWHILE, the navy in Washington disclosed that despite violent attacks by American bombers, the Japanese were attempting to regain a foothold on the bleak little island of Attu, in the westernmost Aleutians.

ITALIAN WAR POINTS HEAVILY RAIDED IN NEW BRITISH ACTION

TURIN BEING EVACUATED BY POPULATION AFTER HEAVY RAIDS

By ROGER D. GREENE

Associated Press Staff Editor.

RAF warplanes blasted Italy before dawn today for the second time in 36 hours, pounding home Prime Minister Churchill's warning to the Italian people to get out of the war or suffer a "prolonged, scientific and shattering air attack."

Simultaneously, a Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from the Italian frontier reported that 300,000 persons had fled the Italian arsenal city of Turin, normal population 622,000, since the RAF began its new trans-Alpine aerial offensive Oct. 22.

The British air ministry said Turin was again the target of the latest assault and that fires started Saturday night were still burning.

"Other bombers attacked railway communications in Belgium," the ministry said, "reporting two RAF planes missing."

More than 100,000 incendiaries in addition to 80,000-pound "blockbusters" were unloaded on Turin in the RAF's Saturday night raid, and a Canadian pilot declared the city's buildings were left "seething as though they were bubbling with molten lava."

Travelers arriving in Turkey from Italy said the Germans were hurriedly building fortifications along the German-Italian frontier and along the Balkan side of the Adriatic Sea against the day that Italy quits the war.

Hitler Sends In Nazi "Tourists"

Other reports said Adolf Hitler had sent 60,000 Nazi "tourists" into Italy in an attempt to prevent the Italians from making a separate peace.

In Washington, "Secretary of State Cordell Hull said that the government was expecting explosive developments in Italy's internal situation soon."

Hull said one should not be surprised to hear of serious unrest in various parts of the war-weary kingdom.

German advances reaching Switzerland said "endless columns" of troop transport vehicles and war materials were moving southward through Italy against a possible allied invasion.

In a victory broadcast yesterday, Prime Minister Churchill promised that the war would soon be carried to Italy "in a manner not hitherto dreamed of by its

ALL FOR VICTORY

Allan Nevins, perhaps the foremost American historian, says: "Why should we be less willing than our forefathers to give, not merely till it hurts, but till the strain and anguish seem almost unbearable, for the triumph on a world theatre of our principles and ideals? It would do many Americans good to remind themselves that during the Revolution pitched battles were fought in every state, wide areas were ravaged in every action, and all society was turned topsy-turvy before victory was gained."

RUBBERS

Losing rubbers at school, getting them mixed up, coming home with one good one and one poor one, has always seemed one of the inalienable rights of childhood. Teacher made him do one example over again, and when he got there that was all there were. Individual lockers were supposed to obviate chronic rubber and mitten trouble, but the mix-ups managed to survive.

Now the children must take greater care of the precious wool and rubber. Grown-ups, too, cannot drop into a store anywhere and buy a new pair of rubbers or galoshes, choosing color and style from hundreds of pairs in stock. Only too often, rubbers are all gone.

The OPA suggests that rubbers be stored, when not in use, in a cool, dark place, after being stuffed with paper. They should not be put near radiators, registers or stoves. Too much heat dries out the rubber and makes it crack.

It suggests, also, swapping rubbers. An extra pair of adult size may be tuned in to a neighbor in exchange for a pair of outgrown children's footgear, thus keeping Johnny Jones' and Tommy Smith's feet all dry.

New ones now being made from reclaimed rubber will be good, but will not wear so long as the old ones used to. Every care is needed.

UNCLE'S HIRED HANDS

If this country is not "governed to mitch" as Artemus Ward used to say, it is surely governed by too many people. According to the estimates produced by Senator Byrd of Virginia, there are now about 3,000,000 civilian employees in the federal government and 2,500,000 in the state and local governments. That seems to boil down to one public employee out of every 24 people in the United States, and one for every five of six families.

It doesn't seem possible. Surely we couldn't have that many people governing us. There might be some big over-estimates in those totals. Why, it would make government itself by far the greatest business in America. But as a matter of fact, when you think it over, that's exactly what the government is now, no matter what terms you use to describe it. And if you add Uncle Sam's military employees, Uncle certainly has an astronomical gang, "living off the government."

Most of this vast manpower is essential at present, with the big war demanding all the men who can be usefully employed by the government. But there is doubtless a good basis for the estimate that public employment in this country, especially in the federal service, could prob-

WAR AIMS.

Tis these they fight for: Glass and chintz,
Which every woman longs for;
And books and toys and pretty prints
Which poets write their songs for.
For these they venture forth to die.
If so, they must in battle:
Man's right his chosen trade to play,
A farmer's right to cattle.

They do not promise more than these:
The chance in peace to labor;
To worship God as we may please;
The chance to play the neighbor.

The dream is not beyond their strength.
For this their all they're giving:
That men may know a full life's length
And find it worth the living.

ably be reduced even now, to two-thirds of its size, and would probably benefit by such reduction.
There are many honest intelligent men in public service who think so, and complain that they haven't enough work to do. Why not give it a trial, instead of recruiting thousands every week?

SACRIFICIAL THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving was celebrated today, but not exactly as usual. In millions of homes, perhaps, it was not a holiday or did not dominate the day. It is hard to say at present just how far the appeal of Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, was followed, but very likely most of the mines and factories producing essential war materials continued normal operation. It did not mean deprivation of the Thanksgiving festival, but a readjustment suited to the times.

"Our enemies," Mr. Nelson suggests, "are not going to stop their production. On Nov. 26 men and women of management and labor alike can easily rearrange their personal schedules so that the traditional Thanksgiving dinner can be enjoyed after work has been finished."

Doubtless such a delayed Thanksgiving celebration is appreciated all the more because of the loyalty and sacrifice involved.

TOUGH MINDEDNESS

"We've got to stop preaching only on moral issues," says a retired minister who now does his sermonizing in a newspaper column. "We must inform our people how the Nazis shoot hostages, and what it will take to beat such a hard, cruel enemy. We must face hard facts and get tough-minded."

He also reminds people that "gasoline rationing is only the beginning of a terrific dislocation of our lives, and we must learn to make adjustments as the English did."

Fortunately pretty good progress has already been made along these lines. But it is still necessary for civilians to wear off a lot of fat, both physical and mental, as the men in uniform do.

NATIONAL ENDURANCE

"Americans proved in 1861-65 that they were ready, on an issue chiefly of principle, to raise armies greater in proportion to the population than those of Napoleon; to pour out more than 600,000 lives; to endure endless humiliations, griefs and anxieties; and to face undaunted not merely immediate impoverishment but the ruin of all future prospects. What they did once, they can do again, for they are the same American people as of old." So writes Allan Nevins, historian of American life. He seems to have been right, for here are the Americans doing it all over again, on a greater scale than ever.

Cheer up! They say the federal deficit this year won't be more than 56 billion dollars, and who's going to fuss about a little thing like that.

There's a War Labor Board outfit now engaged in "wage research." As far as we're concerned, they can search us.

The Axis is stalling now at Stalingrad, and Hitler is hitting below par.

EMPLOYEES TEXAS POWER AND LIGHT SELL AND BUY BONDS

Employees of Texas Power and Light Company sold a total of $905,090.55 worth of War Bonds and Stamps during the first ten months of this year, and in addition, employees of the Company are purchasing through the payroll deduction plan at the rate of $25.00 annually in War Bonds announced John W. Carpenter, president.

"By January 1, 1943, I feel that the combined totals of our sales and purchases will pass the $1,000,000 mark," said Mr. Carpenter. "This program was undertaken with no thought other than to patriotically serve our country and to cooperate with our many friends and neighbors throughout the territory in which we operate, and it has met with tremendous success and is a reflection of the deep patriotism and loyalty of Texans."

Employees of the company devote at least two hours each week to selling bonds and stamps to the public. Since the plan was inaugurated in December of last year, many employees, along with their daily work, have built up "router" of customers whom they visit each week or month for the purpose of delivering War Bonds.

All Texas Power and Light Company district offices are authorized selling agents for United States War Bonds. Series E War stamps also may be purchased from T. P. and L. cashiers.

Ration Book Must Be Surrendered By Those In Service

War Ration Book No. 1 of men and women entering the armed forces must be surrendered to the local war price and rationing board, Wilbur Wright chairman, stated Saturday. This applies also to books of those deceased.

December 15, 1942, is the deadline for registering persons for War Ration Book No. 1. Wright reminded, "No consumer may register after that date except persons who have been out of the country, persons in the armed forces and no longer eating in organized messes, persons confined in hospitals and other institutions between Nov. 9 and Dec. 15, and babies born after December 15. All of the exceptions named above have a period of 30 days in which to register for a book, the chairman mentioned.

To issue instructions. The local board will have a bulletin next week to place in the hands of every institutional user registered with the board. The bulletin will instruct institutional users of sugar or coffee to maintain a record of use in December of certain commodities named in the bulletin. This is intended to place the burden of rationing on the consumer and not on the institution. The OPA will call on them at a later date for the information requested and their failure to comply may affect their position later in securing their share of certain commodities, Wright warned.

Coffee rationing will go into effect on Nov. 29 and December 15. Roasted coffee will be allowed between Nov. 29 and January 3 for each consumer whose age is recorded as 15 years or more on his sugar book.

Schools Hard Hit By War Conditions

Question of transportation by buses, shortage of teachers, and other matters are causing concern to school administrators, trustees and boards of education.

The local board of education is causing some of the school bus routes from rural areas to consolidate high schools and transferred personnel to abandoned schools. If that condition develops, it may be necessary for some of the abandoned school districts to again conduct their schools like they did before the war, when consolidation was established.

As one member of the county school board pointed out, if that condition arises, where will they get the teachers? There is a shortage of teachers as many have accepted government and defense jobs, while many of the teachers and men teachers are in the armed forces.

TWO HUNDRED MILLION EXTRA CHICKENS

Are wanted for American dinner tables this fall and winter. Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard calls upon farmers and poultrymen to produce this extra food to supplement the probable supply of meat available for civilians.

Farmers of Navarro County can help the Food For Freedom program of our government and also help themselves by adding to their flocks of poultry. Get only the best stock and do not have them shipped very far for shipping facilities are very congested which will delay shipment and damage chicks.

Why Choose an ORGANIZATION as Your Executor?

WE ARE a business organization, chartered under the law to serve as Executor. So a fair question is, "Why should I name your organization as my executor?"

There are several major reasons. Experience — we know the job from close daily contact with it. Efficiency — we have geared ourselves to fulfill our responsibilities with the least time and as little lost motion as possible. Economy — we feel that our combination of experience and efficiency add up to important savings for estates.

In addition there are advantages of group judgment which we apply to problems, continuing corporate life, financial responsibility, and others which we shall gladly present to you at your convenience.

Announce Vacancies Industry Training

Both men and women are needed to fill vacancies at the local war industry training class being conducted at the machine shop of the local armory.

Several large war production plants are relaxing in their age specifications, and men and women from older age groups will now be considered for training, if they meet certain physical requirements. Mr. Reedy said. One large production plant in Houston would hire almost any number available at the present time, and will consider those with a minimum of 180 hours training in machine shop practice. Calls are coming into the local employment office almost daily for machine shop trainees, and schedules set up by war plants in Texas indicate that a several thousand more trainees will be needed within the next two or three months, Mr. Reedy stated.

AUSTIN, Nov. 28.—(P)—Railroad Commissioner Beauford Jester, who succeeded Jerry Sadler, announced today that Wallace Hughson of McKinney would replace Jim Kilday as head of the commission's motor transportation division Dec. 15.

Jester said he did not expect there would be any additional changes in personnel in the shake-up in which a number of Sadler appointees have been replaced. TRAVEL IS FOUND VERY DIFFICULT BY JUDGE PASCHALL

Judge Hayden Paschall returned Friday afternoon from a trip to Los Angeles, Calif., where he visited his mother, Mrs. T. A. Paschall.

Judge Paschall started on his return trip by train Monday morning. In ordinary peace times, he would have arrived in Dallas Tuesday night, but was required to wait for additional and later trains at various points because of soldier and defense requirements and bad connections.

The trip to California was made in an automobile with friends. Judge Paschall said that Los Angeles and other Coast towns looked like and were ready for any eventualities.

INCREASED COTTON CONSUMPTION SEEN BY TEXAS EXPERT

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—(P)—The nation's war economy could consume 23 million bales of cotton next year, an expert said.

Dr. A. B. Cox, University of Texas cotton expert, declared today.

Consumption for 1941-42 amounted to 11,200,000 bales of 5,000-pound bales more than normal, he said, asserting that more and better cotton must be grown to meet combined war, industrial and civilian demands.

Land supplies shipped to our allies can easily reach 1,500,000 bales by the end of 1942," he stated. "This figure, combined with 1941-42 domestic consumption will take the whole of this year's crop."

"Lack of mill capacity and the fact that some mills are forced to use lower grade cotton than is required to maximum efficient operation will prevent reaching the 13,000,000-bale goal in 1942-43."

Improvements Made By Air Activities

Improvements and expansion of present facilities of the Corsicana army primary training school of Air Activities of Texas are under way, officials of the school have indicated.

Woolley, director of the Air Activities of Texas, announced during the week-end. The apron will be used not only for warming up planes, but will serve as a runway during inclement weather. The work has been under way for several months. It has been stated that as soon as this job is completed, workers will move their equipment to the satellite field where a smaller apron will be constructed.

Work on the $14,000 new disposal topped sewage disposal plant, immediately south of the field, will be completed sometime during December. Workers are awaiting the arrival of a pump which should be set up for operation about the middle of December. This disposal will accommodate about 2,000 population, and will be used exclusively by the local air training school.

the procedure set up the USDA board will review the individual cases and send its recommendation to the ODT district office for correction. Such inequalities cannot be remedied under the regulation by the OPA or rationing board, but must be handled through the proper channels to the ODT, which will make the gasoline ration for truck operators in issuing Certificates of War Necessity.

However, he pointed out that temporary gasoline ration can be granted by the OPA's rationing board to operators of commercial motor vehicles whose Certificates of War Necessity, because of cancellation or other errors obvious on the face of the certificates, provide for less fuel than the operators should have been granted to conduct their operations under ODT regulations.

Gasoline for Month.
"Such truck operators will be given sufficient gasoline ration for one month's operation upon presentation of such erroneous certificates to the board," he said. "In the same manner operators of commercial vehicles whose applications for certificates of War Necessity are on file also may obtain temporary ration to enable them to operate through December 31."

A letter received Monday by Mr. Wright from Ray Martin, district manager for the division of motor transport, Waco, stated that ODT district offices for motor transport will correct promptly any errors made in Certificates of War Necessity, whether due to clerical error in the office or error by the truck operator in giving information on his application.

Low allotments for gasoline can be corrected promptly when due to error, Martin wrote. Where no error has been made, and the application gave full and correct information, the operator must wait 30 days after receiving his certificate before he can file appeal. If an operator can get long temporarily ration, will correct promptly any errors made in Certificates of War Necessity, whether due to clerical error in the office or error by the truck operator in giving information on his application.

ODT Makes Corrections.
"In any case corrections for increases in the rates of gasoline allowed a truck operator by the Certificate of War Necessity must be made by the proper ODT officials and cannot be made by the rationing board," Wright said. "It is not the function of the OPA or its agencies to question the mileage rationing figures set by ODT. Our board is obliged to follow the figures set by the Office of Defense Transportation."

Flying Fortresses Blast Japs.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—General MacArthur's command Flying Fortresses smashed another Japanese attempt to reinforce the harassed Buna garrison by setting fire to two enemy destroyers off the coast of New Guinea yesterday and sending two others feeling northward an Allied communiqué announced today.

Direct hits with 500-pound bombs were scored on the destroyers which were set afire and both were believed to have sunk later, the announcement said.

The same bulletin also disclosed that Allied naval forces intercepted an 8,000-ton German auxiliary west of Australia, pounded the vessel with gunfire and captured 78 of the crew after they had scuttled their ship.

It was the first report of naval activity in that area in many months and the first official mention of German shipping in the Western Pacific in an even longer period.

On the New Guinea land front American and Australian troops reported maintaining steady pressure on Japanese forces clinging to a 10-mile strip of coast in Buna-Gona sector, but there apparently was little change in the general situation.

TEMPORARY RATIONS BE GRANTED WHERE ERRORS ARE SHOWN

Temporary gasoline rations will be granted to operators of commercial vehicles and farmers whose certificates of war necessity through clerical or other errors obviously on the faces of the certificates provide for less fuel than the operators should have been granted to conduct operations under ODT regulations, a joint announcement from OPA and ODT said today from Waco.

Such operators will be given sufficient gasoline rations for one month's operation upon presentation of the erroneous certificates to their local war price and rationing boards. Those filling applications for certificates of war necessity but who have not received their certificates may also obtain temporary rations to operate through December 31.

Those dissatisfied with the amount of gasoline that has been allowed may appeal at once for a modification to his ODT district office, after which a corrected certificate will be issued if due cause for making such a correction is shown.
